About

I'm Srishti Singh, a psychology graduate turned behavioral product designer. My academic foundation in applied psychology gave me a deep understanding of human motivation—far beyond textbook theories—and my early experiences in student leadership sharpened my ability to translate insight into action.

I began my career as a content writer and social media manager, and later as Community Manager in Bangalore, where I honed my skills in audience engagement and data-driven strategy. During that time, I discovered my true passion: crafting intuitive product experiences informed by consumer and behavioral psychology.

To bridge the gap between theory and practice, I immersed myself in design—learning Figma, wireframing, prototyping, and user-testing methodologies. Since then, I have led projects that apply cognitive science and nudge theory to improve user engagement in fintech, mental-wellness, and social-commerce platforms.

I love solving real-world problems with elegant, user-centered solutions, and I look forward to discussing how my unique blend of psychology and design can drive measurable impact for your team.

Experience

○ May 2024 – August 2024
Community Lead (oopar club)

Community Lead

I still remember giving my last college exams on 13th May, and Joining my first job on 15th May. Working as a Community Lead and Founder Office intern at oopar has been a wonderful experience. From learning AI Sensy to Brain storming on product psychology, it was this job when I realised my love for product design.

So, despite a great experience, I have to leave the job and bangalore, take a break, go stealth, and upskill in product design.

Jan 2024 – April 2024 FinFloww| Researcher & Writer Social Media Writer

At Finfloww I learnt a lot about researching and writing data-driven, finance-oriented, business insights for Instagram Carousels and Twitter case studies. Here, I have written various Twitter threads with reach 1M+ reach.

Here I also hadworked on an Instagram post in collaboration with Nikhil Kamath, on the case study of UX of Netflix with 22k+ likes. During my period here, I learnt the art of social media content writing and research.

Dec 2023 – May 2024 Galgotias University Business Club| Club Head Club Head

Here, I mentored people, startups, and organised events, workshops, and panel discussions that could enhance and boost the business acumen of our students. I have also organized 20+ events, some of them with notable guests like Akshay Kumar, Ashneer Grover, Vijay Shekhar Sharma, Janhavi Kapoor, Ranbir Kapoor, and many others. Apart from this we have also organized e-summit, with 50+ startup stalls at our business expo.

Sept 2023 – Jan 2024 Smart India Hackathon| Team Lead Team Lead

I believe, the beginning of seeing myself in tech happened here, when I worked with an amazing team of techies to bring my idea – "A Mental Wellness Platform to prevent students from mental health crisis".

But, the story did not end here, in fact it started here, I realised the potential of startups and tech for innovation. In fact with our pitch, we even were second runnerup at the Hackathon. But, I wished, if I could be a better leader back then and ensured the smooth execution, who knows, maybe we could have got the first prize?

Jan 2023 – Jan 2024 The Mental Chunks | The Conscious Mind Team Lead

In January 2023, I further decided to take a break from content writing and head on to explore other fields, while polishing my skillsets. And thus, I grabbed an internship opportunity from TCM an initiative by SM Humanity Theatre LLP.

Here, my work as an intern revolved around tasks related to (related to management, creative writing, social media, marketing, editing, content creation, & research.

During my work here, I learnt various managerial and strategical skills related to the fundamentals of startup, mental health, community-building, etc.

Jan 2022 – Mar 2022 TechnoZee | Freelance Content Writer Technical Writer

In January 2021, as my exams were approaching, thus, I decided to narrow down my writing niche for a while and focus on a regular client (as reaching out and communicating to newer clients also demands time.

However, during this period, I started to write for TechnoZee (A tech-oriented blogging site) as a freelance writer. Here my work was to write SEO-based tech blogs. But during this time, something in me was also intrigued by digital marketing.

Freelance Writer (Autonomous)

Content Writer

I started my journey as a Freelance content writer in the year 2021. As my first semester was towards its end, during this period a lockdown was also declared.

Thus, in the meantime, I decided to step into the journey of freelance in the field of content writing with the available resources and skillsets.

Here, I worked with three regular clients and two one-time projects. But since the college exams were approaching in March, So I took a break in my journey.
